PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH GENERAL ASSEMBLY

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada opened in Edmonton last week. The number of delegates and states present at the 11th annual short of 600. Dr. McQueen was elected moderator. The question of union was taken up.

The voting returns on the question of Church Union were given in the report of the clerk on returns to remit. The report stated that of the members of session actively voting 71.61 per cent. voted "yes" and 28.39 per cent. "no," on the general question of union. Communicants, 60.08 per cent. "yes," 39.92 "no," adherents, 72.73 per cent. "yes," 27.27 "no."

On the question of the proposed basis of union 70.3 per cent. of members of session voted "yes," and 29.7 per cent. "no," communicants, 68.2 per cent. "yes," 31.8 per cent. "no," adherents, 73.55 per cent. "yes," and 26.45 per cent. "no." Dr. Campbell, clerk, stated that these returns showed a larger percentage in favor of union than the intermediate returns. He thought it would be wise not to commit anyone to what was contained in the report until the members had had time to consider it. He therefore moved that the report be considered along with the report of the church union committee. This was agreed to.

Recommendations or "resolutions" were received from various presbyteries in regard to a minimum salary of ministers. The amounts recommended varied from $1,000 (Peterborough), and $1,200 (Regina), and for students $13 per week (Algonquin).

A total of nearly five million dollars was raised by the congregations of the Presbyterian church during the year for all purposes of the church. This fact was emphasized in the report of the statistical committee, presented by Dr. Sommerville, the convener. The exact figures were $4,830,082, an increase over the year 1910 of $313,426. The amount raised for stipend, paid by congregations alone was $1,562,860; for stipend, paid by the church, $3,267,222, including stipend, $3,227,747; for salaries of the church $397,315. The average congregational giving of the whole church showed a total of $30 per family, and 16.40 per communicant, for all purposes. The returns of congregational giving in the different presbyteries showed that the contributions per family in Edmonton were $33.19 compared with $30.19 in Calgary, Swift. Current held pride of place among the presbyteries of the Dominion, in the matter of family giving, the amount per family in the presbytery being $74.75.

The number of families in the church was reported as 163,735, being an increase over 1910 of 3,441. The number of communicants was 295,935, an increase of 7,991 over 1910. Those received by profession of faith numbered 15,610, being a decrease of 1,059 compared to 1910. Uniting by certificates were 19,013, an increase of 2,477.

White Plague Causes Loss of Millions

Washington, June 5.—That tuberculosis in the United States causes an estimated monetary loss to society of $570,000,000 annually, not including the losses to the victims of the disease, was the statement made today by Irving Fisher, president of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

This includes the loss of earnings suffered by the families whose wage earners are crippled and then killed by the disease. Prof. Fisher said that in the Gaylord Farm Sanatorium, with which he is connected, he actually pays out $100,000 a year to save the lives of consumptives, especially indigent consumptives. The $200,000 expended in this work has resulted in restoring so much working power that the ready those discharged from the institution have earned $300,000 and still have a potential earning power good for many times that amount.

On the basis of his experience Prof. Fisher concludes that every dollar expended in such institutions saves in a short time at least $5, to say nothing of the gains of the consumptive himself. At present about $15,000,000 a year is put into the tuberculosis fight in the United States.

"When several times this amount is invested, enough to isolate or at any rate educate every one of the consumptives in the United States, now spreading infection, we may expect to see the beginning of the end of the great white plague," he said.

Dr. W. J. Noleger of York, N. Y., discussing the subject "Employment of patients after leaving Tuberculosis Sanatoria," said in part: "The majority of text books and articles on tuberculosis have heretofore advocated outdoor employment for discharged patients. Dr. A. M. Forster and others, for instance, advise the establishment of farm colonies for these patients. According to our experience, this is unwise owing to the exposure to the hot sun in summer, and it seems also to be economically wrong because most people would object to vegetables raised by tuberculosis patients. We have decided to send all our patients back to their former occupations in the factories and shops, believing that the taking up of new occupations would necessitate greater manual labor in the adjustment of new conditions and would besides entail lower wages."

"We have found that those who returned to their old occupations, those who were the tiniest helpful, did better than those who took up new ones. Certain occupations, such as motormen, conductors, drivers, etc., we consider distinctly harmful and we have advised against them even though the patients were accustomed to them before admission to the sanatorium."

Dr. Herman M. Briggs, chief medical officer of the New York City Department of Health, said that the pulmonary tuberculosis death rate of New York City had decreased from 2.29 in 1906 to 1.76 between the years 1901 and 1912. He gave the figures for other cities and added: "It will be noted that the on-ly one of these large cities in which there has been an increase in the death rate from pulmonary tuberculosis is Chicago, and I think there may easily be some question as to the accuracy of the earlier statistics here. The most remarkable decrease, not only in the death rate from pulmonary tuberculosis, has taken place in London. It may be noted that the death rate in Berlin is more than three times that of London and twice that of New York and Berlin."

"As has often been pointed out the difficulties in the way of prevention are far greater in New York than in any other large city, but the results that have been attained in these few years everywhere where active campaigns have been carried on are certainly encouraging."

Frederick Hoffman, chief statistician of a large eastern insurance company, read a paper on the "Treatment and Care of Tuberculosis Wage Earners in Germany." He said that there are at present ninety-nine public and thirty-four private sanatoria for tuberculosis patients in Germany, having a capacity of 14,196 and capable of caring for 56,700 tuberculosis patients a year. Since practically the entire wage-earning population of the German Empire is subject to the compulsory invalidity insurance laws, the prevention of invalidity from disease is obviously of tremendous economic and social importance.

The invalidity insurance concerns in Germany, recognizing that pulmonary tuberculosis is one of the chief causes of physical disability, have devoted much attention to the investigation of preventive measures, and many of the public sanatoria have been established and are conducted by the insurance companies doing business among the wage-earning classes. As a result of these and similar measures, said Mr. Hoffman, the death rate in Germany has declined from 34.6 a 100 in 1884 to 17.9 a 1,000 in 1909.

Dr. Lyle Hopes for Organic Union Soon

Hamilton, June 5.—At the afternoon session of the Niagara Anglican Synod, Rev. Dr. Lyle, ex-moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, when invited to introduce the subject of organic union and expressed his hearty approval of it.

He said he hoped the time was not far distant when all the evangelical churches would be united in Christ.

Bishop Clark assured Dr. Lyle that the Anglican Church had no desire to interfere with church union and would carefully consider it when the other churches were through dealing with it.

Looking for Business

A large party of British manufacturers and business men are coming to Canada to look over the field with a view to stricting branch establishments in this country. They should be well received and cordially entertained at all points—particularly in Western Canada—as they are no doubt well. The British manufacturer has never "gone after" Canadian business as he might have done to his own profit, to the satisfaction of the Canadian consumer, and to the strengthening of trade relations between the old land and the Dominion. But he has been showing a more active disposition in recent years to get into the Canadian market, and the visit of the present company is evidence that this disposition remains. The opening of the Panama canal will be followed by the starting of direct and frequent steamship service between our Pacific ports and those of Great Britain. It will make it possible to bring in via the coast cities many kinds of manufactured goods which now have to be shipped across Canada by rail if brought in the Old Land. The length of the ocean voyage around the Horn and the irregularity of the steamship connection between the Old Land and our Pacific ports, practically prevents the importation by this route of goods required at any certain time, and limits the trade to goods of standard classes. With the establishment of direct and fairly rapid service between the Western Canadian points and the Old Country, it will be possible to place orders in England for machinery and other kinds of commodities wanted at a certain and not distant date, with assurance of reaching their destination at the time specified, and at much lower carriage charges than over the present ocean-and-rail route. The shipment of goods via the Pacific and the Canal to Great Britain will provide return cargoes for the ships which bring to our coast the products of Great Britain. As the canal will probably be opened for traffic about a year and a half, the time is opportune for starting a movement to promote trade activity between Canada—especially Western Canada—and Great Britain. The visit of this party of British manufacturers should help to that end, and thus most welcome.

Advertising Western Canada

The convention of the governors of the Western States which is being held in Seattle for the purpose of devising ways and means to check the tide of Americans into Western Canada, is one of the best advertisements the prairie provinces can secure. Coming on top of the decision of the authorities of Wisconsin to prohibit the display of Canadian exhibits at their State fair because these exhibits attract Americans to the last great west, the Seattle convention will give this section of the Dominion publicity that could not be obtained for mere dollars. In fact, the impression is gaining force that the American agitators are debating they have in view. They are emphasizing the advantages of Western Canada. By preparing plans to spend many thousands of dollars to hold their people there they will unintentionally emphasize the riches of Western Canada to the world. At the same time the prairie provinces should not cease their immigration campaigns. It is only necessary to get the Americans here to convince them that this is the country in which they can make their fortunes and the main thing is to get them here.

Would Shoot The Autoists

Winnipeg, June 5.—Magistrate McMillan stated in his court-room this morning by the declaration that if he carried a loaded revolver and an auto ran into him, he would shoot its driver. During the trial of several owners for over-speeding he said: "I think my life is worth something, and I wouldn't allow anyone to threaten it with impunity. You autoists should consider that the automobile is a protection against you against such men as myself when he keeps you from breaking the law."

The Natural Revenue

When the Almighty created man He made provisions for all his wants. When man first appeared on this earth he found everything that was necessary for his life in a beautiful world capable of yielding him food, shelter and everything that his well-being required. As mankind has progressed and grown in numbers, as increasing intelligence has developed, as needs, resources which primitive man did not know of, or did not know the use of, have been discovered and developed and brought into service. Fire, metals, coal, steam, electricity, water powers, are things which were provided by nature for the use of mankind and which have been discovered and brought into use as the need for them has arisen. Every need of mankind, in fact, has been provided for by Nature. One of the needs of mankind in our present state of civilization is a revenue to be used for public purposes, and nature has provided this. The natural revenue lies in the Land Value or "People Value," as some prefer to call it: the value which attaches to land wherever people congregate. Land in an uninhabited country has no value and there is no need of revenue. Land in a thinly settled country has a small value and there is need of a small revenue. Land in a thickly populated country has a big value and there is need for big revenue. Our Western prairies when they were uninhabited were of no value, no one lived here and there was no need of government, of roads or bridges, of schools or jails, consequently no revenue was required. But people came and settled as farmers and the land became of value. At the same time government had to be established, roads made, schools opened and jails provided, and revenues had to be secured. Then in certain spots on the prairie towns and cities grew and population increased. In those spots larger revenues were required and land became more valuable. The value of land always increases as the need for revenue increases. This is a provision of nature for the needs of mankind. It is a law of nature. But unfortunately men, by their laws, have frustrated the intentions of Providence. What should have been provided for the public use has been appropriated by individuals through private ownership in land. When men violate the laws of nature, they must inevitably suffer for it, and today we find some men who are idle having more wealth than they can enjoy, and others though they labor with all their might have barely enough to sustain life. The masses are realizing more and more every day the injustice under which they are suffering and their protest is being made through strikes and threatened revolution. The majority of men do not recognize the fact that the thing which lies at the root of nearly all economic ills, is private property in land. They are learning this however and when sufficient men see the truth the way will have been paved to the fundamental reform, the resumption by the people as a whole of land which the Almighty created for all men equally to enjoy. The method which is generally accepted as being the best for bringing this about is the Taxation of Land values, a system by which possession of the land would be secured to those who use it, either to live upon or work on, but which would require everyone to pay into the public treasury for public purposes the full annual value of that particular piece of earth which is reserved for private use.

Huge Profits and Lost Lives

Two telegrams of recent date from London make a striking statement. Last week the White Star Line has been paying a dividend of 61 per cent. to its shareholders. The other that the White Star Line, a thickly populated country has a big value and there is need for big revenue. Our Western prairies when they were uninhabited were of no value, no one lived here and there was no need of government, of roads or bridges, of schools or jails, consequently no revenue was required. But people came and settled as farmers and the land became of value. At the same time government had to be established, roads made, schools opened and jails provided, and revenues had to be secured. Then in certain spots on the prairie towns and cities grew and population increased. In those spots larger revenues were required and land became more valuable. The value of land always increases as the need for revenue increases. This is a provision of nature for the needs of mankind. It is a law of nature. But unfortunately men, by their laws, have frustrated the intentions of Providence. What should have been provided for the public use has been appropriated by individuals through private ownership in land. When men violate the laws of nature, they must inevitably suffer for it, and today we find some men who are idle having more wealth than they can enjoy, and others though they labor with all their might have barely enough to sustain life. The masses are realizing more and more every day the injustice

Make Live Stock King

It would appear that by the production of several crops during the acreage in which oats, barley and flax in each township of Alberta, the Department of the Interior is unconsciously becoming those districts where wheat is king. There is no doubt that those who see this map, which is an excellent production, instinctively classify a district as desirable or undesirable according to the amount of wheat which it produces. If this is not sufficient, there are the reports from the statistical department at Ottawa. In these first consideration is given to the crop reported and only a minor paragraph deals with live stock, which, as experts will say, is the most important branch of agriculture.

While crops are receiving all attention it is in a deplorable fact that as a result of the craze for raising wheat in Alberta, very few cattle will be shipped out of the province this year. The majority of the big ranches have been broken up and there are now not many big herds in most parts of Alberta where a few years ago cattle held supreme sway. The demand for beef for home consumption this year will be so great on account of the large amount of railway construction work to be done in the province that there will be few cattle to ship out. In addition to this the big packing houses are already drawing on Alberta to supply their outside orders.

The farmers in the Lacombe district may not make the sensational showing in the crop reports, that so many look upon as a test of western prosperity, but by paying more and more attention to the live stock industry they are finding where the best profits are to be made. So strong has been the demand for spring stock that prices that buyers find there are very few cattle left in the country. Indications are that prices for cattle will remain high and that each attractive price is a fine inducement for the farmers in this district to raise more cattle and hogs than before. By so doing they will be in a position to supply an ever increasing market and produce of their soil on the best instead of trusting to the vicissitudes always attendant to wheat raising in a country where early frosts are as yet the rule.

Festive Beefsteak

Beefsteak is an alleged article of food which is removed by force from cows which are too old and feeble to resist. It is the most durable form of meat now in use and is capable of resistance to decomposition. It is usually bought on the hoof at 44 cents a pound by liberal gentlemen known as packers, who wish to act for their country's good and at the same time extract a bare living profit for themselves and their dependant families. By the time they have transformed the hide into a pony-skin coat, the horns into glucose and the hoofs into shaving soap, what is left is sold at 25 cents a pound to people with rubber-set teeth and a love of adventure. In order to be thoroughly enjoyable, beefsteak should be cooked over a slow fire for one hour prior to the noonday meal. The most expensive variety is porterhouse steak, one slice of which will cause a $12-a-week salary to sag at the knees. This kind of meat is unwholesome, allowed to ferment in a refrigerator, and is never served until old age has put it on the shelves. The rib steak is a crude imitation of the porterhouse, and has to be assaulted with more determination. Then there is that hardy household favorite, the round steak, which has a very stubborn disposition and has to be carved with a two-handled cross-cut saw. The flank steak is a by-product of a cravenette finish, and should either be Fletcherized or fed to some household pet. The fibre of the average hotel beefsteak is not approached by anything except the split hickory spoke and the better grades of linoleum, and is seldom molested by anybody after the first round. The fortitude of the American beefsteak reflects itself in the American character and stomach, neither of which is afraid of anything. A break bout with a beefsteak three times a day gave England her navy and her nerve, and it is making America the reddest-blooded infant of the nations of the world.

Beef Cattle Situation

Ten cent cattle are predicted for the Chicago market for the month of June, 1900 head of Alberta cattle have recently been marketed in Winnipeg, and Liverpool prices for Canadian and United States steers reached 17 cents per pound last week. Of course, the Alberta markets are more or less cut off from the great world's markets, and the influence less than at markets with closer connections with these centres. Nevertheless, it is an extremely pessimistic person who will predict anything but better prices for the next few months. The highest price for beef on the New York whole sale market since 1881 was reached last week when it sold at 134 cents a pound bulk. Farmers can still put in a few acres more feed with intention of carrying some cattle next fall. When $25 worth of cattle feed can be grown on an acre of land and the land pointer to better prices at least, they can't break a great deal under present conditions—the future looks rosy for the cattle feeder.

Many of the best live stock and packing experts of the United States are being sent to Argentina to aid in the rejuvenation of the waning cattle industry there. A syndicate with $50,000,000 bank of last winter sent Mardo Menendez to manage the proposition of making millions for the beef industry of the South American country. Within five years, this European-American company expects to invade American markets with their cattle. Last week Hugh Chittick, live stock commissioner of the St. Paul railroad, went to Rio Janeiro to join Mackenzie in this work. These men believe in the future of the beef market and are prepared to stake millions on it. They have the problem of transportation to solve, as the grazing lands and breeding stuff is comparatively easy. The grazing lands in the two ends of the world are without limit, while the best bulls from the old country are being brought over without regard to price. In the meantime cattle are getting scarcer and prices are advancing all along the line.

The Result of Drink

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6.—"A wave of degeneracy is sweeping the land," declared Dr. Alexander MacNicol, at a recent meeting of the American Medical Society for the Study of Alcohol and Narcotics. In 50 years the population of the United States has decreased 330 per cent., while the number of insane and feeble-minded increased 950 per cent. The birth rate has dropped 33 per cent. in the last five years. "Alcohol is the chief degenerate factor," asserted the physician, and he informed his hearers that official records show that 90 per cent. of the children of abstinent parents were normal, as against 7 per cent. of those belonging to alcoholic parents. Since the beginning of this century 1,000,000 babies, under 2 years, died as a direct result of the drink habits of their parents. This, Dr. MacNicol declared is racial suicide on a colossal scale.

Why License Incompetence?

To operate a threshing engine in the province a man is required to serve a lengthy apprenticeship under a competent engineer, to pass examinations showing him to have acquired a knowledge of the construction of the engine and how to operate it, and to secure certificates attesting his knowledge and experience. Yet practically any man or woman who has money enough to buy a automobile can secure a license to run this through the streets of any city or town in the Province at a speed which a threshing engine could not possibly attain, this without any training in the management of the car, or any examination as to his or her knowledge of its mechanism or operation. The incompetency is glaring. A threshing engine in incompetent hands is a menace to the man who is running it, and the few members of the threshing gang who may happen at times to get near enough to it to be injured by an explosion. An automobile in incompetent hands is a menace to everyone on the streets through which it runs—sometimes at the speed of an express train. In the public interest an applicant for a license should be required to show some reasonable amount of knowledge to the construction and control of the high-powered and high-speed machine he wishes to drive through the public streets.

TORTURED FROM BABYHOOD

"Fruit-A-Lives" Cures Constipation

MRS. E. A. GOODALL

EDMONTON, ALTA., Nov. 20th, 1911
"I have been a sufferer since babyhood from that terrible complaint, Constipation. I have been treated by physicians, and have taken every medicine I heard of, but without the slightest benefit. I finally concluded that there was no remedy in the world that could cure Constipation. About this time I heard about 'Fruit-A-Lives' and decided to try them. The first box gave me great relief, and after I had used a few boxes, I found that I was entirely well. 'Fruit-A-Lives' is the only medicine that ever did me any good and I want to say to all who suffer as I did, 'Try this fruit medicine and you will find—as I did—a perfect cure.' 'Fruit-A-Lives' is the only medicine in the world made of fruit and the only one that will positively and completely cure you of Constipation. See a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or on receipt of price by Fruit-A-Lives Ltd., Ottawa."

Which is Your Choice?

Sloppy, leaky wooden troughs, or clean, durable Concrete?

Wooden drinking troughs are about as reliable as the weather.

They are short-lived and require replacing every few years—not to mention continual patching to keep them in repair. The best of wood cannot withstand, for long, constant dampness and soaking. Its tendency to rapid decay soon shows itself in leaks and stagnant pools of water around trough.

Contrast with this the durability, cleanliness and well-ordered appearance of Concrete.

Which?

Mrs. Misener Speaks on Canadian-Indian Missions at the Epworth League

On Monday evening about 100 of the young people of the town gathered in the Epworth League to hear Mrs. Misener speak on the subject "Some History of Canadian-Indian Missions."

The speaker dealt with the subject at some length and throughout the whole speech she held the unwavering interest of the gathering. At first she pointed out the interest that was taken in the Indian Missions by the French and the English when they were contending for supremacy on this continent and showed how by lives of great hardships they were enabled to reach the Indians far inland. Next she took up Rev. Wm. Case and his work in Ontario, then she turned to J. A. Evans, the great missionary who when stationed at Norway House in Manitoba, travelled to the Rockies, visiting the Indians in their wigwams and preaching to them as they gathered at the posts of the Hudson's Bay Company. After a few years of travel he invented the Cree syllabic, by which the Indians could be taught to read in a few days. Lord Dufferin said of him, "that there were many lying in Westminster Abbey who had not done as much for humanity as had J. A. Evans." In a very interesting way Mrs. Misener touched upon the life of Geo. Macdougall, at Morley, and while the speaker was telling of his death the crowd sat in breathless silence. The food supply at Morley had run low. On Sunday a herd of buffalo was sighted, and on Monday morning Geo. Macdougall, his son John and an Indian guide, set out in pursuit. They succeeded in killing two buffalo; loaded the meat and travelled to camp. Geo. Macdougall, on his light pony, rode on ahead to light a fire in camp. When the son and the guide arrived they failed to find him. Thinking that he had gone on to Morley they passed the night in camp and listened there the next day, but only to find that he had not arrived. Instant search was instituted and soon his body was found with his arms folded on his breast.

During the address the speaker referred to the work of Father Leduc and Father Lacombe, whose memories are perpetuated in two thriving towns, of which we are citizens. Reference was made also to the work of Henry Steinhaug and his two sons, Robert and Egerton, who are still in the work.

During the business session the rules and regulations governing the tennis court were read and adopted. Taking this as a foundation, a tennis club was formed and all arrangements made for going on with the game. Arrangements are also under way for a social on Monday evening next, notice of which will be found elsewhere in this issue.

The League meetings are always interesting and helpful and week after week the crowd which attend it is growing larger and larger. There is room still for new members. All who wish to come will receive a hearty welcome.

Highest on Record

It costs more to live in this month of June, 1912, than ever before in the history of the continent, except, perhaps, during war time in the United States. Prices were high a year ago, but to-day they are on the average nearly 100 per cent. higher, according to trade authority quotations.

Food products are the highest on record. Meat, eggs, butter, fish, potatoes, coffee, tea, sugar, salt, molasses, rice, beans, and peas average 22 per cent. higher; wheat, corn, oats, barley, flour, etc., 33 per cent. higher. Fruits are the only thing good to eat that have become cheaper in the last 12 months, but they are still higher than in 1910. Leather products cost 12 per cent. and chemicals and drugs 12 per cent. more than a year ago. Textile goods, however, are a little cheaper.

The average increase in food products is nearly 20 per cent., which means that the housewife must pay $6 to fill a market basket that only cost her $5 (can) in June, 1911; in other words, $1 will buy only 60 cents' worth.

INVESTORS' OPPORTUNITY AUCTION SALE

WHY THIS SALE?

We admit that it is rather an unusual occurrence. It has not been forced upon us, but we have decided to take this method of demonstrating to prospective investors the remarkably good opportunities for investment that are available in Lacombe at the present time. We are convinced that this is the very best moment to invest in Lacombe. The town has not had a boom nor has it kept pace with the demands of the district round about. Lacombe has a tributary district that requires a town of 3,000 people to serve it adequately even now. How much greater will those demands be later on as the country develops.

Then the C. N. R. is coming with all its development and transportation facilities. That means more trade and more people right away which will require many of the properties that will be sold on the 25th.

Now, did it ever occur to you what the coming of this new manufacturing industry will mean to Lacombe? Such an industry is sure to grow to large proportions and is just as sure to attract others here also. That means enhanced values for the properties that will be sold on the 25th.

And then, Mr. Reader, contemplate the possibilities and wealth of the great Brazeau coal fields, right in our own back yard. That means increased trade for us as produce in large quantities will be required. That means cheap fuel and cheap power, and they spell manufactures in the centre of transportation facilities, such as Lacombe is destined to be.

BENTLEY, ALBERTA
Sub-branch Lacombe
Office hours 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
EDWARD J. QUINN, Manager

Ideal summer weather is now boosting the crops right along. Cut worms are doing some damage in gardens but damage is slight so far. The roads are in excellent condition again and many people spent Sunday at the Lake.

F. W. Thorp and C. F. Damron each had their sailboats out Sunday, trying them out and getting the rigging in shape.

Auctioneer Damron has a sale near Rimbey, on Wednesday, Geo. Stonelake selling out. See bills.

Don't forget to celebrate Dominion Day at Bentley.

The school drilling at the McPherson Hall on Saturday night was well attended, and the children gave some very clever and interesting drills and exhibitions with wands, wranthes, dumb-bells and Indian clubs.

Mr. C. Buckley was looking over the country. The railroad rumors have caused an increase of new comers to this section.

Rev. Kay, Presbyterian Missionary, will conduct service at the schoolhouse in the near future.

A stout crib culvert has been built on the road near Mel Sheppard's place. We hope it will give longer service than its predecessors.

Ian Macdonald sold Less, Owsen's farm to Austin Everson, of Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Everson are to be congratulated on acquiring a fine place in such close proximity to school and post office.

CHIGWELL

Those who attended the picnic held at Turvill's on Friday last were not disappointed in their anticipation of a good time. Although the day was a trifle windy a crowd of about ninety sat down to the spacious and bountifully laden tables set out in the shade of the trees to the north of the school.

After everyone had done justice to the excellent lunch provided the crowd repaired to the school grounds where a varied program of sports was carried to perfection by the committees, Messrs. Burnet, McLean and Van Dyke.

The program consisted of jumping, races and football. Though no world records were broken in the running and jumping contests, yet the interest was keen, as was the case in the basketball game, the school team holding the ex-scholars to a 4-0 score.

The final and greatest event of the day was the football match in the evening between Chigwell and Clive. The field was well lined with supporters of both teams, a large number of Clive supporters coming up in buggies and automobiles to cheer their team. Clive won the toss and elected to kick with the wind in the first half. The score at half time stood 1 to 0, and at full time 3 to 0 in favor of the home team.

After the game the crowd dispersed, as the ice cream disappeared, each one feeling satisfied with having spent a pleasant and enjoyable day—one of the kind for which Chigwell is noted.

Industrial Academy Notes.

Four of the students were suddenly called home Friday morning on account of the illness of their father, Mr. Haynal, of Kamsau, Saskatchewan. A slight wound on the thumb caused blood poison and a more recent telegram conveys the sad news that there appears no hope of recovery. This well-known family have the sympathy of their many friends.

Final examinations were held at the Academy Thursday and Friday. The last chapel exercise of the year was conducted Monday morning at 9:00 by Elder Burman. It was regretted by all that on account of sickness, Principal Beardsley was unable to be present. After the close of the chapel the students and teachers assembled under the window and sang the beautiful hymn "God be With You Till We Meet Again."

On Sunday evening at 7:30 a large number of neighbors and friends, with the students and teachers enjoyed an interesting and appropriate closing program. In the course of the remarks made by the president of the board, it was stated that the enrollment during the year had reached 116. This has been in most respects the most successful year of the school's history. The crowded conditions during the past year have emphasized the imperative demand for more buildings. A prosperous year in Western Canada will undoubtedly furnish an attendance greater than our present room can accommodate.

The Church-School Department of the Academy rendered an interesting program Friday afternoon. This department has been under the charge of Miss Salene Sheldahl during the past year and has been very satisfactory to both parents and the board. The work of this department covers grades one to six. If the work continues to grow as it has, the little building at the foot of the hill will be too small next year.

Clive Happenings

Mr. C. Davey is busy erecting a garage for his automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Longstreet and Mrs. G. W. Rainey left on Monday morning for a trip to the Coast. Mrs. Rainey returns in a month, but Mr. and Mrs. Longstreet will probably proceed to California and be absent for several months.

A social evening was spent in the King Edward Hotel on Thursday evening last to introduce Mr. Harding, the manager of the Quebec Bank recently located here. A pleasant time was spent in a social way and some of our citizens expressed their satisfaction in seeing such an institution locate here and in meeting Mr. Harding. The guest of the evening fittingly responded.

A new real estate office is being built on Main Street next to the Hotel. Guy Wilson will soon occupy it as a real estate and insurance broker.

The Golden Rod Creamery is receiving double the quantity of cream it did this time last year. It bids fair to have a prosperous season. A number of shipments now arrive by train.

Wednesday, June 5th will be a red-letter day for some time in the history of Clive; on that date the Quebec Bank located here and ever since has been doing a good business. Mr. Jolly arrived last week to assist the new banker and the second assistant clerk is expected soon. Quarters have been arranged for in the King Edward Hotel for the present. We have not the least doubt that Mr. Harding's summing up of the banking capabilities of Clive and its district will abundantly be justified.

The business men report that last Saturday's sales were the largest on record in this town. The accommodation of a bank brought to this centre a number of people who do not usually trade here, but will now, owing to the facilities offered them for banking.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilson invited a number of friends in on Monday evening to celebrate with them the anniversary of their wedding. A pleasant social evening was spent.

Rev. L. R. MacDonald, who has been pastor of the Methodist Church at Clive for two years past, is leaving next week for Oastor and will hold his last service here for the present next Sunday, the 17th of June. Rev. E. J. Tate, formerly of Ponoka, but now of Fort Saskatchewan, will take his place.

The football boys journeyed up to Chigwell on Friday evening last where the school picnic was being held to try conclusions with the Chigwell team. The grounds were small, partly uneven, and covered with long grass and the Clive boys found it difficult to get into the game. The score was adverse, 3-0. Another game will be played at Clive the last of this week. Mr. Little refereed the game at Chigwell.

The Jones Valley baseball team were up on Saturday last and tried conclusions with the locals in a friendly contest on Saturday afternoon last. Quite a number turned out to see the game. The score was 18-15 in favor of the home team.

Considerable stock has been shipped out during the past few weeks. Mr. Puffer was in charge of most of the shipments. Some of the cattle went to the old country. Among the shipments were 14 head by Nels Peterson, 44 head by Mr. Gilbert, 12 head by G. Elliott and 7 head by James Grosse. A car load was also shipped by Mr. McLean. In two shipments 130 hogs were shipped away, one being on May 31st; the other, June 5th.

A proposition is on foot to establish a newspaper here to serve the interests of this district, but it will take considerable time to make arrangements to that end. Mrs. L. R. MacDonald and daughter Margaret purpose leaving on Monday next for a few months' visit to her former home near St. John, N. B.

An English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredient that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. The Lacombe Drug Co., your druggist, is the first to import this preparation into Lacombe, and a large generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

Report of Methodist Committee On Moral and Social Reform

At the Alberta Methodist Conference in Edmonton last week the Committee on Temperance and Moral Reform put in a report deprecating the fact that the department of the interior had granted the request that there be a demonstration in Macleod upon the visit of the governor general. Besides this there was a strong resolution asking that the sale of cigarettes and papers as well as tobacco be prohibited throughout Canada.

The report of the committee was as follows: "On motion, the following resolution was adopted: That this Conference and the following appeal to the Indian parades of this royal highness, the Governor-General of Canada:

"It is reported in the public press that in the arrangements being made for your reception in the Province of Alberta a feature is proposed by the town of Macleod, to take the form of an Indian pageant, and in this connection we beg to state the following facts for your earnest consideration:

"1. The policy adopted by the dominion government in regard to the aborigines in Canada has taken the form of certain treaties, the ultimate objects of which are to lead these people away from their former habits and practices, educate them to civilization which would tend toward good citizenship.

"2. Vast sums of money have been expended by the Dominion Government under the Department of Indian Affairs with this object in view.

"3. Various denominations of the Christian church have expended much labor and money in seeking to supplement the laudable efforts of the Dominion government for the elevation of the Indian people.

"4. Such exhibitions of the Indians as the one proposed by the town of Macleod became so common a few years ago that an agitation was organized seeking to put an end to these practices and for the following reasons which were established in the public press of Alberta and of the city of Winnipeg:

"(a) The Indians have not reached that stage of development where they are able to distinguish between the idea of a show and of a serious act; thus when a serious exhibition is proposed they quit their work on the reserves weeks before and do not take up their duties until weeks after the special occasion.

"(b) This results in neglected gardens, unsown and unweeded fields, hay contracts lost and business generally disorganized.

"(c) Further and more serious results are found in the dissipation of the Indians themselves: drunkenness and immorality are very prevalent upon such occasions.

"(d) The time of Indian agents, farm instructors and missionaries is spent largely in vain, and money contributed both by the government and the church in good faith is wasted and misapplied. The time for the solution of the Indian problem is thus postponed indefinitely.

"5. When the question was taken up in the public press, one of the chief arguments used by the promoters of these exhibitions was that they had been allowed for the entertainment of important and prominent parties who were travelling through or visiting the West.

"6. The Federal Department of the Interior, having charge of Indian affairs throughout Canada, has recently issued instructions to the various municipalities in Western Canada, forbidding such Indian pageants and parades, which action was greatly appreciated by the white settlers, the agents upon the reserves and the missionaries working among the Indians, as well as the Canadian Indians of this province. The present announcement to the effect that instructions would be issued which would permit the proposed Indian parade at Macleod was read with great surprise and deep regret.

"Therefore this Alberta Conference in confidence trusts your royal highness will do a lasting favor to the Indians of the Dominion and a great service to those who are laboring among them if you turn your influence against this exhibition, to do honor to your approaching visit, which will stoop to the jeopardizing of the character of the subjects of the realm."

It was moved, seconded and carried that a copy of this appeal be sent to the Hon. Robt. Rogers, Minister of the Interior, with a vigorous protest against the action of his department in this regard, and that full particulars of the Conference's action be communicated to the department of temperance and moral reform of our church at Toronto.

On motion it was decided that the action of this Conference be communicated to the Presbyterian General Assembly, the Baptist convention and the Anglican Synod, and the Labor Council, with a request for their consideration and co-operation.

The report of the Conference regarding the use and sale of cigarettes and tobacco in the Dominion was as follows:

"Memorial from Edmonton district re provincial prohibition; Resolved, that in view of the very aggressive immigration policy of the Dominion of Canada, whereby the country is rapidly filling up with people from all parts of the world, many of whom fall victims to the licensed traffic now in force in this province, therefore we memorialize the annual Conference to ask the provincial legislature to enact a prohibitory law to the full limits of provincial power, the same to come in force if endorsed by a majority vote, to be taken at this time of the next provincial election."

"2. Memorial from Edmonton district re prohibition in northern territory: On motion the action of last conference was reaffirmed as follows: "We would request the government of Alberta, that in places where there are no licenses, no license be granted, except by the vote of the people within the required area and upon securing the majority as that required to bring local option in force."

"3. Memorial from Edmonton re cigarette evil: On motion, the following was adopted: Whereas careful attention has clearly demonstrated that the use of tobacco, and especially cigarettes, exerts a most deleterious effect upon the morals and manners of our youth, inculcating in them physical and mental powers, as well as their honesty, truthfulness and general integrity, therefore, resolved, that the Alberta Conference would cordially co-operate with the W. C. T. U. in their effort to secure federal legislation which will prohibit the manufacture and sale of cigarettes throughout Canada; and "That we call attention of our ministers and people to the present legislation by the federal parliament making it a crime, punishable by heavy penalties, to 'directly sell, give or furnish to any person under the age of sixteen years any cigarettes or cigarette papers, whether for his personal use or not, also to sell, give or furnish to such person tobacco in any other form than cigarettes, if he knows, or has reason to believe such tobacco is for the use of such person; also for any person to smoke or chew tobacco in any street or public place or to smoke or have in his possession, whether for his own use or not, cigarettes or cigarette papers, or tobacco in any form, for his own personal use and further, making it the duty of the magistrate to examine under oath all persons brought before him and found guilty under this law as to where and from whom such persons obtained the cigarettes or tobacco, and during the refusal to give such information as a contempt of court, and request that all possible assistance be given the authorities for the proper carrying out of execution of the above laws."

"4. Memorial from High River district re progressive legislation: Whereas, the repeated efforts of the government and legislature of Alberta to curb the progressive legislation asked for by the temperance people of this province indicates that very little legislation of this character may be expected from the present legislature of Alberta, therefore this Alberta Conference would urge upon our laymen the necessity of taking a greater interest in the primaries of their respective parties with a view to securing the nomination of the most desirable candidates by these parties in their respective electoral districts, and that support be given only to such candidates as may be depended upon to support temperance and moral measures in the legislature of Alberta.

And further, that our ministers and quarterly official temperance committees be urged to adopt such measures as are most likely to arouse and strengthen a healthy and vigorous temperance and moral reform sentiment in their respective communities throughout the province. Adopted.

On motion this was endorsed with the following addendum:

"1. That each temperance committee meet at regular intervals of not less than one month, to carefully consider any questions of moral and social reform, and to take such steps as may be decided upon to remedy conditions."

"2. Confer in confidence and co-operate cordially with similar committees appointed by other congregations, concerning these matters."

"3. Inform the general secretary concerning all matters of this nature and thus secure the help of the department in every effort."

"4. And wherever there are two or more Methodist congregations in the municipality, the committees of all the churches organize themselves into a union for more thoroughly dealing with the various conditions in their community."

"5. And further, use such methods as shall bind together in a single unit the voting strength of the whole church in order that it may be directed effectively against the solid influence of the liquor traffic."

"6. Resolved, that the government of Alberta be requested to introduce into the curriculum of the public schools of the province some text books which shall teach the physical, chemical, social and moral evils which result from the use of tobacco and alcohol."

"7. Memorial from High River district: That this Conference views with deepest disapproval the inaction and continued unsatisfactory attitude of the government of Alberta, with regard to the progressive temperance legislation, particularly in the reaffirmation of the three-fifths majority clause in the local option contests, and in the requirement of the fee of $100 upon the electors, for the privilege of expressing their opinions as to issuance of liquor licenses in their respective districts."

On motion this was endorsed:

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mrs. Bryce, of Edmonton, is visiting Mrs. D. Hamilton for a few weeks.

J. F. Sweetland, industrial agent of the C. P. R. was a Lacombe visitor last week.

Mrs. R. Shilleto returned on Saturday from an extended visit to her daughter in the States.

The English Church Ladies' Guild will hold a lawn social at Mrs. Watkins on Friday, the 21st of the month.

F. L. Smith is expected in Lacombe in a few days. He has recently returned from a tour of the continent.

Our baseball team went down
to defeat once more at Ponoka
last week, the score after a hard fought game standing 9 to 8 in favor of the residents of the asylum town.

A. W. Kent left on Monday night for Kansas City, Mo., where he will visit friends for some weeks. Mr. Kent has been confined to his home all winter
through illness, and goes south
to recuperate.

There will be a social dance
in the Opera House next Friday evening. Prof. Bosenberry's orchestra providing the music.
Everybody is invited, and good management is promised. Tickets are $1.00, ladies free.

D. Lockman, who recently purchased the Winnipeg Hotel,
has decided that the name Winnipeg
is not an appropriate
name, and has had the name changed to "Empress Hotel." He is making some very necessary improvements to the place.

Anthracite coal in large quantities has been discovered in the mountains west of Edmonton,
and our citizens will be interested to learn that D. V. Fringle, formerly of this district, is one of the promoters who have formed a company capitalized at five millions, for development purposes.

L. B. Sweetland and M. C.
Williams arrived here on Sunday
from North Dakota, en route to the Peace River district. They made the journey from Dakota
here over the trails by motor cycle, and reported a splendid trip. They spent the Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. Unbreit, relatives, and continued on their journey on Monday afternoon.

Chas. West, one of our most successful old timers, has disposed of all his interests in Lacombe and will probably leave us in the near future for pastures
green. Since coming to Lacombe, several years ago, Mr. West has accumulated a fortune, both in business and through his many land speculations. There is no better place on earth to make money than Lacombe and district is the opinion of Mr. West.

His son William will also remove from here having cleaned up his interests.

The date of the Epworth
League lawn social at Mrs.
Baily's is June 17th. Don't forget it.

J. W. Lundy and Jas. Gourlay have started to beautify their street in earnest. Both of these gentlemen have had boulevards
made in front of their residences and trees set out. With a few more enterprising men willing to do their share, Stanley Street will make one of the prettiest streets in Lacombe.

R. Shilleto and John Shilleto received word on Thursday that John McCorkindale, a nephew of Mrs. Shilleto, had been accidentally killed at his home at Bassano. They left for that town on Friday night to attend the funeral which took place on Saturday. The deceased, who was contracting on the irrigation ditch, was working around his steam engine
when a shaft broke, and whirling around struck him on the head, killing him instantly.
He was about thirty years of age and unmarried.

The Methodist Epworth League is holding an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Baily on Monday evening,
June 17. Ice cream, cakes, lemonade, candy, fruit, etc., will be served, and all kinds of games for the amusement of everyone will be played during the evening. They expect to have several automobiles in attendance during the evening to accommodate those who wish to go for rides. Everyone is invited to come and the reception committee will see that you are made welcome.

The streets are presenting a neat appearance, a great deal of good work being done on them. Day Street cement sidewalk
has been almost completed,
and is a splendid piece of work. Walks are being built on a different plan this year than heretofore, the entire cost being charged to the property affected. In this way many permanent improvements can be made without affecting the credit of the municipality. The shortage of cement is keeping a lot of work back, but the dealers say they will have plenty of it
at hand.

J. W. Shirkley, who has been engaged for some weeks grading
the Gull Lake road, left on Saturday with his outfit for the north, and will do some necessary work in the vicinity of Hobson.

The firm of Ashley & Wilson is no more. Mr. Ashley has removed to Calgary, and Mr.
Wilson has taken in a partner named A. J. Mortimer, a recent arrival from England. The firm will in future be known as Wilson & Mortimer, and will carry on a general real estate, loan and insurance business in the old stand on Railway St.

Mrs. W. F. Graham returned this week from a visit to friends in Manitoba.

The local Masons attended
divine service in a body on Sunday evening last, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Rev. Gilmour
conducted the service.

Vina, the thirteen-year-old daughter of W. W. Brown, met with a painful accident on Sunday.
It appears that she and a younger brother, the latter carrying a 22 rifle, were out for a walk when in some manner
the gun was discharged and the bullet passed clean through the girl's leg. It is but a few weeks since the sufferer left the hospital where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.
However, the fact that the bullet passed between the bones
without splintering them will ensure a quick mend of the injured member.—Alex. Free Press.

The proprietor of the great socialist paper "Appeal to Reason,"
has for years put up a good howl against the tyranny of the capitalist crowd. This gentleman is retiring from the journalistic field, having acquired nearly three million dollars
from the Socialists who had their hearts in the cause. Thus it is seen that a man does not necessarily practice what he preaches. Wayland, the editor of "Appeal to Reason" was an employer of labor of the cheap
kind; in fact paid his writers starvation wages. He relied on his blood and thunder
articles to make his paper popular with Socialist crowds and he evidently succeeded.

All Ready for the Made-in-Canada Exhibition Train

The "Made-in-Canada" Exhibition
train will arrive in Lacombe
at 7:30 on Friday evening
next and will remain all night.
Immediately after the arrival of the train all the cars
will be thrown open to the public,
who will have all evening
to view the various interesting objects laid before them by the Canadian manufacturers. The Board of Trade has made arrangements to take charge of the party on their arrival, and have laid out a program for their entertainment. Those who care to avail themselves of an opportunity to see the sights around Lacombe, will have at their disposal all the automobiles in town in charge of competent guides and will be shown beauty spots of this vicinity.
About ten o'clock there will be a monster open air meeting at the depot, where various representatives of Canada's manufacturing interests will give interesting and instructive
addresses, illustrated by limelight views thrown on a huge screen. Everyone within a reasonable distance of our town should turn out and look over this exhibit.

SALE OF TOWN PROPERTY

H. F. Kenny & Co., the land men, Day Block, Lacombe, have made up their minds to start Lacombe real estate, and with this end in view will, on Tuesday June 25th, at 1:30 p.m., hold a big auction sale of Lacombe town lots at their office. They have secured a large number of the choicest lots in town for this sale, and investors will do well to keep the date in mind.
This is the first of a series of sales of inside property this firm will hold this summer.

Alberta, 1912, Chapter 2, and the cost thereof (except the cost of construction over any intervening
streets, lanes or alleys,
and except one-third of the cost of construction of the said sidewalks fronting or abutting upon any corner lots which have been already specially assessed for sidewalks) will be assessed against the lands fronting upon the aforesaid streets or places whereon or where the said sidewalks will be constructed, as aforesaid, by special frontage assessment,
spread over a period of 20 years, and the said work will

FATAL C. P. R. RUN-OFF
Geo. Young, C. P. R. watchman of Strathcona, was killed
by the overturning of the engine of a construction train between Strome and Sedgewick on Monday and Conductor Wm. Wallace of Red Deer and others of the crew had narrow escapes.

The engine was running backwards with the tender lightly loaded, and on rounding a curve, engine, tender and nine cars were derailed. The engineer, fireman, brakeman Stark, of Red Deer, and Young were on the engine. The latter was probably dozing after a night's watch and was unprepared
when the engine went off and overturned in the ditch, crushing him underneath. The others miraculously escaped without injury. Conductor Wallace was thrown through the double glass of the caboose and was cut about the face and left hand, the latter seriously, as two tendons in the back of the hand were severed. His brakeman in the caboose escaped being thrown on the tracks.

PRICE OF CEMENT IS AGAIN REDUCED
For the second time within a period of six months, a reduction of ten cents per barrel in the price of Portland Cement has been announced by the Canada Cement Company. This latest decrease is effective according to the company's announcement,
at all points in Canada,
west of the Lakes. A previous reduction of ten cents per barrel was made last November, so that the total drop in the last six months
is twenty cents per barrel, west of the Lakes; and ten cents east—representing an enormous saving to the cement consumers in Western Provinces.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Seventh Day Adventists from Edmonton, Didsbury, Calgary, Lacombe, Leduc and other places throughout the province of Alberta, will attend the annual camp meeting and business session of the Alberta Conference of Seventh Day Adventists which will be held in Strathcona June 20 to 30.

The campers will live in tents during the entire encampment, and the grounds where the meetings will be held will resemble a city of tents. Not only will there be small tents for living purposes, but a large pavilion where the principal services will be held will be pitched, as well as, tents for meetings by the young people and children and also a tent where the campers will dine. Vegetarian food will be served, as practically all Seventh Day Adventists are vegetarians.

Pastor C. A. Burman, of Lacombe, is president of the Conference, and F. L. Hummel, of Calgary, is secretary. The Adventists are looking forward to this meeting with much interest. Not only will practically all the ministers in the Alberta Conference be present but several others from other conferences are expected. Pastor George B. Thompson of Washington, D. C., who is the Secretary of the Sabbath School Department of the General Conference, the governing body of the denomination, will be here and will probably stay throughout the meeting. He is now attending the camp meeting of the British Columbia Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, which is being held at Kamloops and will come here after the close of that meeting.

The coming of Pastor Thompson is awaited with much interest. He is one of the most travelled ministers in the denomination, and it is his second trip to this section of the country this year. He attended the biennial meeting of the West Canadian Union Conference, which was held at Didsbury during the winter. Pastor Thompson will occupy the pulpit with sermons, and will also offer advice and suggestions during the business sessions of the conference when officers will be elected, reports of the different departments read, and plans for the advancement of the denomination throughout Alberta the coming year outlined. Each church will be allowed one delegate for every ten members, while church pastors and conference workers will be delegates by virtue of their positions.

Seventh Day Adventists have no creed but the Bible, and they accept this book from Genesis to Revelation as the inspired and inspiring word of God. They accept the Ten Commandments as the eternal and unchangeable rule of God's moral government. They believe that the Bible teaches the second advent of Jesus Christ to this earth. While they do not claim to know the definite date of His return, they believe it will occur in this generation. Numerous signs recorded in the Bible, which, when they are fulfilled, will mark the approach of the Saviour. They believe still further that nearly every one of those Divine predictions have been definitely fulfilled and thus the advent is near.

Those people further believe that definite advent messages are in the world today, and that they have been called to give that message. In speaking of the teachings of the denomination, one of the ministers said:

"Our message is summarized in Revelation 14:6-12. Here are three messages which combine into one, and thus form one great, world-wide, threefold message, which is immediately succeeded by the second advent."

"A careful perusal of the message shows that it is God's final and mighty protest against sin, errors of doctrine, and corruption of every form, both in and out of the church. It is not merely the promulgation of certain 'isms,' but it is a definite call for reformation on every point of doctrine which has ever been obscured by indifference and apostasy. It is God's final plea for a return to primitive Christianity, and a fearful warning against the worldliness and frivolities of the present age."

The movement with which Seventh Day Adventists are connected, began in 1845, when Captain Joseph Bates of Fair Haven, Mass., began the promulgation of the message now going to the world. From that humble beginning, the message has gone to 47 countries of the world, declare leaders of the denomination. In a report of the statistical secretary of the General conference of this work accomplished up to the close of 1910, he said that the denomination has organized 106 local churches, which are divided into 23 union conferences, 87 missions, nearly 4,500 evangelists, nearly 3,000 churches and more than 105,000 believers. The statistical secretary further declared that a tithe of $1,338,695.65 was paid in by the membership in 1910 and that $458,943.70 was given in free will offerings for the support of foreign missions. He said there was a large increase in the tithes and offerings last year.

Considerable attention is paid by the denomination to the distribution of literature when the literary feature was started a copy of all the printed matter of the denomination could be purchased for a few cents, while today, it is claimed, it would take $525.00 to buy a copy of each pamphlet, tract, periodical, and book published by the denomination. Twenty-eight publishing houses are conducted in different parts of the world, the Christian Literature is being distributed in 67 different languages. It is said that the book and periodical sales in 1910 amounted to $1,560,510.58, the total from 1903 amounting to $7,571,911.82.

EXPERIMENTING IN DEPTH OF PLANTING POTATOES

At the Lacombe Experimental Farm Mr. H. Hutton made some useful experiments in connection with potato planting. He planted British Queen at three depths, all other conditions being identical. Those planted one inch deep gave a yield of 390 bushels of marketable and 44 bushels of unmarketable tubers; Those planted four inches deep yielded 355 bushels of marketable and 62 bushels of unmarketable; and those planted six inches deep yielded nearly 486 bushels of marketable and only 36 bushels of unmarketable potatoes. A second experiment had in view testing the advisability of planting potatoes as soon as cut. British Queen potatoes were planted the same day the seed was cut, but a portion of the seed was held over for two weeks and then planted on the same date as the potatoes cut previously. The held seed was stored in sacks in a fairly light room. The results were that those planted the same day that the seed was cut yielded 445 bushels of marketable and 71 bushels of unmarketable tubers, while that which stood for a couple of weeks only yielded 312 bushels of marketable and 63 bushels of unmarketable potatoes to the acre. Another testing experiment carried out by Mr. Hutton was to ascertain the difference between planting cut and whole potatoes, cut and whole. For this experiment Mr. Hutton used Holborn Abundance. In small cut, requiring approximately 15 bushels of seed to the acre, the yield per acre was 459 bushels of marketable and 25 bushels of unmarketable tubers. In small seed planted whole, requiring nearly 28 bushels of seed to the acre, the yield was 411 bushels of marketable and nearly 24 bushels of unmarketable potatoes to the acre. In large cut the yield was 455 bushels of marketable and nearly 24 bushels of unmarketable; and in large seed planted whole the yield per acre was 449 bushels of marketable and 22 bushels of unmarketable potatoes to the acre. The amount of seed required per acre for the large cut was nearly 24 bushels and of the large planted whole over 50 bushels to the acre.

Prizes Worth While

Great interest is being manifested from Atlantic to Pacific, and more especially throughout Western Canada and the states of Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota, Idaho and Washington, in the sweepstakes prize that is offered for the best bushel of hard wheat grown under dry farming conditions in 1912 and exhibited at the International Dry Farming Exposition at Lethbridge, October 21-25th. This premium is of the type "Rumley Traction engine, of 30 h.p. and 15 tractive, and valued at $2,500. It will be delivered free to the winner of the contest at M. Rumley Company's factory, nearest his home.

The Rumley tractor was recently used on the demonstration farm of the Oliver Plow works at South Bend, Indiana, and was illustrated alongside a mold-board plow used in the days of the American Revolution, and other makes of plows to show the development up to the present day brought about through the invention of heavy farm machinery. Three of these tractors plowed 55 furrows of 14 inches, or 64 feet two inches. The corners were turned and the big Oliver Gang plows were shown in the front of the ground with no difficulty. In the demonstration at the Purdue University last fall it was shown that one of the plows could be detached and the outfit moved forward without readjusting the hitch. An acre was plowed in less than four minutes; more than fifteen acres in an hour, and it is claimed such an outfit can plow 150 acres in a day.

One of these Oliver engine Gang Plows, valued at $500 has been donated by the Oliver Chilled Plow Works of Hamilton, Ontario, as a premium for the best bushel of oats grown in Canada in 1912; and exhibited by the grower at the Dry-Farmed Products Exposition. This plow, a four furrow, will be turned over to the winner at the company's nearest general agency in Canada, free of charge, and equipped with either breaker or stubble bars.

Another interesting and valuable premium is the Stewart Sheaf Loader, valued at $500, which is donated by the Stewart Sheaf Loader Co., of Winnipeg, Man., for the best sheaf of hard wheat grown anywhere in the world and exhibited at Lethbridge next October. The Stewart sheaf loader picks up, handles and loads the sheaves, doing away with pitchforks in the field and reducing the number of horses. It is claimed that it will offset a saving of $20 to $30 a day in wages alone and not counting horses' feed and board for men. Threshermen who are using loaders throughout Saskatchewan are loud in their praise of the machine.

The International Harvester Company of America has donated a Deering or McCormick grain binder for the best sheaf of wheat open to the world, also an International Corrugated two-wheel packer for the best pack of flax grown in 1912 under dry farming conditions and exhibited at Lethbridge, October 21-25th next.

How Best to Finance Agricultural Industry

(Grain Growers' Guide).

How best to finance the agricultural industry is one of the most pressing problems that is calling for solution at the present time. The experience of last winter has shown that the present system is very far from meeting the needs of the case. Through the inability of the railroads to carry the crop to market expeditiously, thousands of farmers, big and little, throughout the West found themselves unable to meet their obligations. Store accounts, machinery bills, payments on land, even wages of hired men, could not be paid when they came due, even by many farmers who had harvested and threshed a good crop. There were some farmers in the West last winter who had thousands of bushels of grain in their bins and who were unable to get enough money to provide their families with good things which are naturally looked for at Christmas time. The storekeepers, the implement men, and business men generally all suffered with the farmers because the latter were unable to get money to pay their bills. The losses and difficulties caused by the situation of last winter, however, are far from fresh in the minds of the people of the West to need more than passing mention here. The question is, how can the recurrence of the same be prevented, or if it cannot be prevented, how can its effects be minimized?

Reciprocity, some contend, would have relieved the situation, but reciprocity did not carry, and it is evident that if the crop which is now growing produces an average yield, the railroads will be just about as badly tied up next fall and winter as they were last. This condition, in fact, is likely to remain unless the southern market is opened to our grain. No matter how fast the railroads may improve their facilities, no matter how storage elevators may be built, it will be next to impossible to overtake the increase in demand for grain which will be needed each year. Moreover it is doubtful if it would be good policy to compel the railroads to carry out the whole of the western crop in one or three months of the year, even if it were possible to do so.

Our farmers, however, cannot afford to hold their wheat from harvest time until the following spring or summer. They have to wait quite long enough when they sell in the fall for the returns from their labor. No other industry requires those engaged in it to wait so long before being paid for their work. Our western farmers as a rule have not sufficient capital to wait until a second crop has been sown and is nearing maturity before they receive payment for the first.

The natural source to which the farmers turn for the financial assistance necessary to carry them over while they are perfecting their grain is the bank, and for this reason the banks have fulfilled this proper function in this regard. The experience of the past season, however, has shown that the amount of credit which the banks will give is altogether inadequate. Some of the banks, especially the smaller ones, shut down on the farmers early in the season, and refused to lend money even to men who had a large quantity of grain on hand. One reason for this is that the bank is not permitted by the present Bank Act to lend money to a farmer on the security of his grain. The banks may lend money to a wholesaler, a shipper or dealer up to the security of grain, but under the present law they can take no security upon grain held by the farmer. This undoubtedly has stood in the way of many farmers securing a loan from the bank to tide them over until such time as they can sell their grain, and it would appear that the removal of this restriction would help materially to relieve the shortage of money which under present conditions is certain to recur with each succeeding crop. It is generally understood that the revision of the Bank Act which usually takes place every ten years, and which is now more than a year overdue, will be undertaken at the next session of the Dominion Parliament, and the present is therefore an opportune time to take the matter up.

From the farmers' point of view, an amendment of the Bank Act in this particular would seem desirable. If the farmer could borrow money on his wheat he would escape most of the loss which he at present sustains through the periodical crop shortages in the fall. Those who have sold their wheat to elevators would not be compelled to accept a lower price than their grain was worth, as many were last year because the elevator was in such a hurry to get the grain out that they could obtain money was to take what ever the elevator man offered them.

It would enable the farmer also to hold their wheat until after the freeze-up and so have time for fall plowing. It would enable the farmers who could not get cars, or did not wish to haul their wheat in the fall to obtain money to meet the many obligations for threshing, wages, supplies, machinery and so forth which come due at that season and so prevent seizure of heavy interest. There would, of course, be interest on the loan itself, but this would not be felt so heavily because the price of the grain would rise when it would eventually be sold, would ordinarily be higher than the fall price, and, for example, for instance, if Northern wheat was worth from 93 cents to 95 cents in store at Fort William, while at present (May 30) it is $1.04; an advance of approximately 10 cents a bushel, which would pay the interest on a bank loan for six months twice over.

No matter how good the proposition would be from the farmers' point of view, however, the amendment would be of no use unless the banks are prepared to make use of it, and in order to ascertain the attitude of the banks, the writer of this article discussed the question with a number of responsible officials of banks doing a large business with the farmers of the West. Some were found to be opposed to the idea, others, who were in the minority, were in favor of it. The objectors claimed that the proposal would be of no benefit because the banks already loaned money freely to any farmer who was in a good financial position and whom they knew to be trustworthy. "No one who is ever refused money, and if a farmer is not considered a credit risk, why should he give security on his wheat, we won't lend him anyway." Other bankers, however, took another attitude. "Wheat," they pointed out, is a fluid asset, which can be turned into money at any time when transportation facilities are available. It can be readily realized upon, and is therefore a desirable form of security. Then there are a large number of farmers, both home-steaders and men who are well established, who have obligations for machinery, horses and the like. They have grain that they cannot conveniently market at the moment, and so to the bank for a loan. But the bank is unable to take security either on wheat or on land, and if they lend money, which is to be repaid on the sale of the wheat, there is the risk that the wheat may be otherwise disposed of or even seized in payment of debt. The bank might then be able to collect what it has advanced, and under these conditions, which are extremely common in the West, the banks will often decline to lend. If, however, the banks could take security on the grain, have it placed in a steel fire proof vault, of which the bank manager would keep the key, and if the bank and the bank only could sell the grain when the loan came due, so that whatever else may happen the bank would always be able to recover the amount advanced, then in many cases, the writer was informed, the loan would be made where at present it is refused.

It was, however, on enquiry that some of the banks at least would be willing to lend considerable more money to farmers if they could get security on grain. It is admitted that high rates of interest are charged to farmers who borrow from $100 to $2,000 at a time, than to merchants, manufacturers and other people whose requirements run into five and six figures. It is also admitted that the banks have considered the most desirable department of many of the banks, not only because of the profit on loans, but also because as the farmers get over the pioneer stage they become depositors instead of borrowers and thus provide funds for loaning to newer districts.

Revision of Course of Studies for Schools

The revision of the course of studies for high schools throughout the province was completed by the committee in charge this week. The new courses will go into effect with the opening of the schools after the mid-summer holidays.

The committee was appointed some eighteen months ago, and considerable time has been spent by the members in bringing the studies in the Alberta high schools up to the highest possible standard. They have concentrated their time and thought to the work entirely without pecuniary remuneration.

Dr. Roy has acted as chairman of the committee, three men have occupied the position of Minister of education, the original committee being selected by ex-premier Rutherford; the first meeting being called by Hon. C. B. Mitchell, and the last meeting by Hon. J. E. Boyle. Special attention has been given to the work required for teachers' examinations, as this will be the course receiving the most attention in the smaller schools of the province. Provision is also made for special courses in the city high schools, whereby students desiring to secure a general or commercial education will be allowed to select special studies. Manual training and domestic science will now be recognized as high school subjects for the first two years.

It is believed that the recognition of special courses by the department will bring the high school into closer connection with business and industrial life and thus, in taking the special courses will be qualified not merely as office assistants, but as future directors of business enterprises.

Travel in Safety

One of the directors of the White Star Line, in his evidence before the British inquiry into the wreck of the Titanic declared that it would be impossible to supply enough lifeboats for a ship of that size, and that it would be impossible to secure enough lifeboats to get a sufficient number of passengers and crew to safety. The statement is the plainest that has been made by the steamship people.

The steamship people have been proceeding in their mad career without any real consideration for the public whom they serve. The scarcity of the lifeboats is a matter of doubtless due to the policy of the steamship companies in dispensing with the services of men of that class. Such a policy though rather limiting the safety of the ships, would reduce the expenditure and increase the dividends.

But if the Titanic and the monsters of that kind cannot be made safe, another style of ship must be created. There are many people, even in this country, who prefer to travel slowly and remain alive, rather than gain a couple of days in an ocean trip and go to the bottom of the sea.

Indian Kills

Mounted Police

Const. F. W. Davis, R. N. W. M. P. was killed on Tuesday last at Bassano by Jim Ham, an Indian. A squaw who was with Jim Ham at the time of the shooting gives the story as follows:

It was the first eye witness story of the shooting yet told, and went to show that Constable Davis, when he caught up with Jim Ham on the road from Brooks to Bassano, ordered him to stop and turn with him to Brooks, for creating a disturbance with fire arms there. Jim Ham refused and kept up the pace of his team. Davis therefore fired his revolver to frighten him into obedience. Jim Ham returned with two shots out of his rifle. The first one missed, the second one told, and Davis fell head first from his horse. He did not move again, and Jim Ham appropriated his revolver and belt, chaps and cap, and rode his horse accompanying the rig to the Indian reserve.

There was another Indian, a brother to Jim Ham, on the rig but the squaw alleged he was in a drunken sleep in the bottom of the democrat, and did not take any part in the shooting. On the way down before any shooting had occurred Jim Ham had threatened that if she and his brother tried to leave him he would shoot them both. She was therefore afraid of him and dared not interfere in his shooting of the officer.

Arrived at the reserve, the squaw alleged Jim Ham got two rifles from his trunk, and a crowd of Indians around him, told them he had shot a mounted policeman and was going to make his escape in the morning. He would not let the police get him if he had to kill them all.

The Indians however, rapped him, sent word to the Bassano police, who arrested the whole thing who were in the rig.

Other evidence given showed that a boy named Emil Peterson was shot as by the Indians on their mad flight from Brooks. He gave them twenty-five cents for a life and because he refused to get them liquor Jim Ham threw him off the rig and shot at him. The boy made good his escape, however, losing a bundle of clothes he had been carrying.

Wm. Clark, driving an oat wagon from his camp at South-east, discovered the dead body of Davis, shot through the breast. Information was flashed to Bassano and Corporal Johnston and Corporal E. C. Harris brought it into town. This was all the evidence taken.

H. Bauer found Dead

About eight o'clock Saturday evening Corp. Wells of the R.N. W.M.P. here was notified that Henry Bauer, a well known farmer living north of town had been found dead behind the granary of his farm. The officer immediately notified Coroner Sharpe, and together they went to the Bauer home. The deceased who was 79 yrs. of age had been dead some hours before discovered by a neighbor, R. L. Clover. Beside the corpse two bottles were found, one containing wood alcohol, a deadly poison, and the other a mixture containing gin. The latter bottle will be sent to Edmonton for analysis. The Coroner has decided that an inquest is unnecessary, as everything points to a clear case of suicide. The funeral was held on Monday.

Shot Big Bear

S. W. Paisley, of the Canyon, shot a huge cinnamon bear on his farm on Friday last. For several days four specimens of the bear tribe were noticed in the vicinity of his home. On Friday Mr. Bruin came in view on the banks of the Canyon, several hundred yards away, and picking out a sunny spot, lay down for a sleep. Mr. Paisley saw him, and getting a rifle tried a long shot. He was most successful, the first shot cutting the arteries within half an inch of the animal's heart, killing him almost instantly. Mr. Paisley brought the dead animal, which measured seven feet from snout to end of tail, into town and sold him to The Pioneer butcher shop, and lovers of game in town regaled themselves on bear meat on Sunday. The captor will have the hide tanned, and will treasure it up as an evidence of his prowess.

Alberta Summer Schools

Training schools for Sunday School teachers will be held at Cooking Lake, July 10th to 19, at Sylvan Lake, July 24th to Aug. 2nd; at Banff Aug. 7th to 16th. It is the purpose of these summer schools to provide instruction to the students in attendance on the principles and methods of Sunday School work, including study of Missions.

Registrars have been appointed for each school who will receive enrollments for Cooking Lake school, Rev. A. E. Hayes, Alberta College, Strathcona; Sylvan Lake School, E. M. Wilson, Red Deer; Banff school, L. V. Lynn, Calgary.

A Texas Ranger

Lovers of the blood and thunder style of drama should be well satisfied with the performance of The Texas Ranger at the Comed Theatre on Saturday night last. We will not attempt to describe the actors or actresses, or their work, suffice it to say that they used a very good class of blank cartridge, and the noise of the explosives was all that could be desired. There was a poor attendance.

Jimmy Ward to Fly at Calgary Fair

The Chicago papers of May 31st announce that at the aviation meet at Cicero on the 30 May, Jimmy Ward, who is to make two flights daily at the Calgary Industrial Exhibition, June 28th to July 5th, paid an unexpected visit to the Grand park at about 5 p.m. in his Curtis machine "Shooting Star." He flew in thirty miles from the amusement park, where he is exhibiting, and returned after an hour's rest. During the journey he reached an altitude of 8,500 feet. He is giving very successful flights at Riverside Park, Chicago, and visitors to the Calgary Industrial Exhibition may look forward with pleasure to witnessing his flights during the Calgary fair.

SYSTEM OF VACCINATION ON ALBERTA LINES OF C.P.R.

Typhoid fever will be to a great extent eliminated from the ranks of the C. P. R. employees by an inauguration of a system of vaccination.

The system will be started in the Alberta branch of the railroad and will no doubt spread over the whole road.

Dr. Mackid has already made all arrangements through his divisional surgeons for the vaccination of all employees of the road in Alberta, to take place immediately on the arrival of the vaccine, a consignment of which will be in Calgary shortly.

The Alberta division alone of the C. P. R. employing as it does more than 10,000 men, is worthy of comparison with the armies and navies of the world.

Notice to Fishermen

Under the special Fisheries regulations angling or trolling in waters frequented by trout, grayling or Rocky Mountain white fish is prohibited, except under permit to be procured from the nearest officer of the R. N. W. M. P. upon payment of $1.00. No fishing can be done on Sunday. The use of spears, unbaited hooks, etc. is prohibited. In trolling single hooks only can be used—this use of a gang of hooks being prohibited. In waters not frequented by trout, grayling, or Rocky Mountain white fish, fishing may be carried on without a license by any British subject.

If it is a camp chair you want for the lake or verandah we have it. See us—Morrison & Johnston.

Inciting to Violence

A Winnipeg magistrate declared from the bench that if he had a revolver and was run down by an automobile he would shoot the driver. A good many law-abiding and well intentioned people in cities other than Winnipeg have been led to entertain thoughts of the same kind. As surely as men are human, the failure to regulate the driving of automobiles with in the limits of reason and safety is driving people in some Canadian cities to the point of desperation. In that direction lies the danger of neglecting effective regulative measures; the danger that the public, convinced that the law cannot or will not protect them, will take matters in their own hands. Let that dark conviction once be driven into the minds of the people and only one thing need be looked for when an automobile accident occurs. The man in the car has, if he would only see it, as much to fear from reckless drivers as the man on foot. The careful and competent driver—who is in the vast majority—should be as anxious for the proper regulation of careless and incompetent drivers as the people who walk—and for the same reason, the safety of his life.
